Brown Arrives This Morning; Al Lippe With His Scrapper

Reisler to Work at 1 o'Clock—Brown at 2 o'Clock

SHOW IS GUARANTEED

Stalling Not Tolerated Says Promoter Newman—High Class Boxing Assured

By LARRY DAILEY.

Frankie Brown, crack eastern featherweight who meets Johnny Reisler in the 15-round main event of the Oil City Athletic club's boxing show at Convention hall next Wednesday night, is due to make his first appearance in Tulsa today. Al Lippe, manager of Brown, last night wired Promoter Lou Newman that he and Brown will arrive in Tulsa this morning and that Brown would workout in the afternoon. Newman set the hour for Brown's training at 2 o'clock.

Boxing enthusiasts of Tulsa are greatly interested in seeing Reisler's opponent in training. The easterner, conqueror of numerous classy featherweights, is considered one of the most rugged and most formidable scrappers in his division.

Reisler will start his training at 1 o'clock. This early hour was fixed in order that sporting fans might attend the workouts and the ball game or dog races.

John Reisler, Jr., who is handling his son's affairs, wants spring partners and says Johnny will work with any scrapper, regardless of weight.

Workouts are at the Scott-Kennedy dancing academy, 112 South Boulder.

Promoter Newman says he guarantees next Wednesday night's show. With Rev. Earl A. Blackman as referee, patrons may be assured that they will get a run for their money. "If any boxer stales or otherwise fails to give satisfaction for my cub, the referee will throw him out of the ring and the offending boxer's purse will be given to charity," said Newman last night.

"I am going to give Tulsa high class and clean boxing only and my patrons are guaranteed the best," he concluded.

BRITISH PROPOSE TO BAN DUMPING

Recommendations Made to Parliament to Place 1-3 Duty on Goods

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The British government has issued formal proposals to parliament for the protection of British Key industries and the prevention of dumping foreign goods into England. American Consul Skinner at London today cabled the department of commerce.

The plans contemplate a customs duty of 25 1-3 per cent ad valorem for five years on articles produced by Key industries. Among the chief industries for which protection is sought are those manufacturing scientific instruments, optical glass, hosiery, magnets, needles, metallic ingots, synthetic organic chemicals, except dyes, and all other fine chemicals.

The proposal contemplates the addition to this list of other goods which may fall within the Key classification.

A further duty of 25 1-3 per cent may be added to other duties on articles which are sold or offered for sale at prices below the production cost, or at prices which, because of currency depreciation, are below the prices at which similar goods can be produced in the United Kingdom.

FORD CAR IS RECOVERED

Ownerless Machine Is Parked at Police Headquarters.

Ford, who lost a Ford? Such is the cry of Ray Ward, head of the stolen auto department of the police. For Ray has on his hands an almost new 1920 Ford touring car which he recovered last Wednesday and which he says is a stolen car. The engine numbers on the car had been altered, according to Ray. The car is being held at police headquarters awaiting identification.

Dolan became enraged when Lauson called Nipper McCrete out on a close play at first.

Panletti Not Barred From Massillon Club; Officials Satisfied

CANTON, Ohio, April 2.—Gene Panletti, former first baseman with the St. Louis and Philadelphia teams of the National league, and recently barred from organized baseball by Judge Landis on a charge of offering to cooperate with gamblers, will continue as a member of Massillon, Ohio, semi-professional club.

This was announced by Ben Fairless, business manager, today. Panletti will play shortstop.

A thorough investigation was made by officials of the Massillon club into Panletti's case during the last week, the investigation including personal interrogation of the player under question. This investigation, according to Fairless, did not reveal evidence to show that Panletti had in any way been "crooked" during his career with St. Louis and Philadelphia.

That he was indiscreet in becoming associated with baseball gamblers is admitted by the Massillon officials, but they do not deem his indiscretion sufficient grounds for barring him from organized baseball.

According to Fairless, it developed during the investigation that information against Panletti had been the hands of President Heydler of the National league since early in 1920, but that no charges were filed against the player until recently, after he had refused to sign a 1921 contract unless granted an increase in salary, which the Philadelphia owner, Mr. Baker, refused to concede.

Panletti played through the 1920 season with the Philadelphia Nationals.

By EDWARD W. COCHRANE.

Before the present year passes into pugilistic history, Benny Leonard, world's champion lightweight, is going to be forced to defend his title against a new challenger, who has leaped into the glare of the sporting calendar the past six weeks by victories over Richie Mitchell and Willie Jackson.

This boy's name is Rocky Kansas, and he hails from Buffalo. He isn't a new fighter, but he has just risen to a place along the pugilistic highway where he can make his first bid for the championship.

Leonard realizes that such a match is inevitable and he is going to prepare for it by meeting several lesser lights first. His opening battle in this campaign is to be staged this week, when the champion boxes Frankie Schoell in a battle at Buffalo.

Schoell is a tough lightweight, but cannot be put in the same class with Leonard. There always is a chance for the granddaddy to be scrambled, just as Kansas upset it when he knocked out Mitchell in one round, but Schoell is not expected to do anything of this sort to Leonard. He is serving more as a trial horse.

There is one other championship battle on the week's schedule, Joe Lynch, the busiest of the eight reigning title holders of pugilism, will meet a rather worthy foe in Cleveland when he faces Young Montreal for ten rounds.

Montreal has met every good bantam in the country, including Joe Burman, Pete Herman, Carl Tremaine, Roy Moore. He has not defeated all of these boys, but he has given each one a tough argument.

Lynch, never hit, met Montreal before. The champion is the cleverer of the two, but not as rugged as his opponent and cannot hit any harder. It is likely that this bout will go the limit, as each is thoroughly experienced and should be able to avoid a knockout punch for 10 rounds. No decision will be given, so Montreal's only chance to annex the crown is to register a knockout.

Kansas an Old Fighter.

Rocky Kansas will re-enter the ring to face Bobby Ward in a 10-round battle in St. Paul. Ward is a young lightweight, who is under the management of Billy Miske. Reddy is promoting the contest. Ward is not expected to beat Kansas, who is trying to add several more scalps to his belt before he tackles the kingpin of the division.

Kansas's rise to fame has been so meteoric that many people are not well acquainted with his record. He is an Italian and his correct name

SAPULPA INDIANS FILE LAND SUITS

Claim They Were Defrauded While Under Influence of Exorcism

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—Three Oklahoma Creek Indians today filed suit to recover $12,300 from the W. E. Stewart Land company, charging that they were defrauded through the purchase of worthless lands in Texas.

The Indians, Anna Brummett, Charles Brummett and Bert Purcell, allege that the company induced them to pay exorbitant prices for worthless lands while they were under the "influence" of an exorcism.

The Brummetts filed an affidavit, while Purcell brought a second suit embodying the same charges. All three declare they left their homes near Sapulpa, Okla., on an excursion to Texas at a cost of $35 each. On the trip they visited a number of Texas towns at which the land company provided music and other entertainment. The Creeks charge they became overconfident because of the land company's splendid entertainment, and readily accepted the word of their land salesman. The land, they declare, is worthless.

The Brummetts each paid $2,000 while Purcell invested $6,300. Each asks that the Stewart concern and the Stewart Farm Mortgage company be compelled to return the amounts of their investments.

Carpentier-Moran Bout Discounted by Rickard

NEW YORK, April 2.—Reports from London that Georges Carpentier and Frank Moran had been matched to box there May 31 were discounted by Texas Rickard.

"Nothing to it," said the promoter. "Carpentier is touring in Algiers and when he finishes his tour will make preparations to start for America and begin training for Dempsey. According to our contract neither Carpentier nor Dempsey can take part in any boxing contests two months prior to their match, July 2."

Funeral services for Dan L. Cross, Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cross, 418 South Elwood, who died Thursday night in a local hospital, were held Friday afternoon from the Stanley-McCune chapel with Rev. C. W. Kerr, officiating. Interment was in Rose Hill.

is Rocco Tomez. He was born in Buffalo in 1895. The husky young Italian started boxing in 1911 and has been fighting steadily ever since.

Before the new 15-round decision law went into effect in New York he met such fighters as Willie Jackson, Pete Hartley, Johnny Dundee, Cal Delaney, Johnny Kilbane, Freddy Welsh, George Chancy, Lew Tendler, Frankie Callahan, Walter Cline, Jimmy Luffy, Benny Valgar, Phil Bloom, Ad Wolgast, Joe Mandot and most of the rest of the good lightweight, with the exception of Leonard Dundee and Frankie Hart.

Most of the others were no-decision affairs.

Kansas never has been knocked out. He has knocked out many fighters. The 15-round game is just to him. He is as tough as they make them, and can hit hard. He is especially effective at in-fighting.

Other Good Bouts.

Pete Herman, ex-champion bantam, who has changed from a non-combatant to one of the busiest of ring men since he beat Jimmy Wilde in London, will be back in harness again. He opposes Johnny Solberg, a fairly good bantam, in Brooklyn Monday night. Herman should win the bout but he will have a rather interesting argument.

Jack Sharkey is again a favorite to New York. Sharkey lost to Lynch some time ago and left the bright lights of Broadway for a rest at Hot Springs, Ark. The rest must have done him some good because he is fighting good again and is going to try to regain his old place as one of the leading challengers for the bantam crown. He fights Midget Smith in a return engagement in New York. They met a week ago and it was such a sensational scrap that the promoters decided to repeat it.

St. Louis boxing fans are going to see a negro scrap that will be worth while. Harry Willis, recognized as the champion negro heavyweight of the world, will oppose Jack Thompson for eight rounds. Thompson is a rough slugger and few heavyweights are anxious to enter the ring with him because of his "rough house" tactics. Thompson also can fight, and he is tough and can hit. Willis is the cleverest big fighter in the game today, now that Jack Johnson is in the federal prison and he has plenty of power in his punches. Willis will be a favorite but he will know he has been in a fight when it is over with.

Pinkey Mitchell who is the best of the two Mitchell brothers now, will fight Irish Patsy Cline in Milwaukee. Cline was a good boxer a few years ago, but he has slipped. Mitchell should beat him. Pinkey is clamoring for a fight with Leonard.

which was clearly demonstrated when he won a decision over Willie Jackson in 15 rounds.

The Buffalo Italian is peculiarly built. He is just five feet two inches in height and can weigh in at the lightweight limit easily. His legs are small, but he has the shoulders of a heavyweight, a big neck and as powerful as a middleweight. He has been a long time coming to the top, like Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion, but he never slipped a bit and for the past year he has been improving rapidly. He is just the sort of fighter to give Leonard all kinds of trouble in a 15-round battle. Leonard will outpoint him for the first half of the fight, but the Buffalo boy is likely to wear Benny down.

Pete Herman, ex-champion bantam, who has changed from a non-combatant to one of the busiest of ring men since he beat Jimmy Wilde in London, will be back in harness again. He opposes Johnny Solberg, a fairly good bantam, in Brooklyn Monday night. Herman should win the bout but he will have a rather interesting argument.
